

July'07 Result re-declaration circular

"It has come to the notice of the University that some of the Learning Centres failed to inform the students about the change in rules and regulations regarding computation of results of different subjects in a combined paper. Though the new regulations had been explained to the Learning Centres during their meeting with the University officials and later, in June 2007, a notice was also put up on the website, some Learning Centres failed to inform the students about the change in regulations. This has adversely affected some students. Keeping the interests of the students in mind it has been decided that those students who appeared in the July 2007 examinations in the combined papers and have passed in one subject and have also passed in aggregate of the two subjects will be declared as passed. This is a one time dispensation given only for the July 2007 examinations. Students who have appeared in the combined papers and have passed in one subject but have failed in aggregate would have to re-appear in only the subject in which they have failed."
